

Possible Sources of Evidence

This list presents other ideas for gathering evidence about your program, student learning and activities.

- Program proposal (new program development documents)
- Program website
- Program map (of courses and connections)
- Department meeting minutes
- Previous program reviews or accreditation reports
- Perceptual data from alumni, students, faculty, other community members (e.g., gathered through focus groups, interviews, surveys, arts-based methods)
- Enrolment statistics, including demographic details
- Retention statistics
- Graduation rates
- Meeting minutes from Program Advisory Council/Group or other community groups
- Employer feedback about students engaged in experiential learning opportunities
- Feedback on students attending graduate studies - grants/scholarships attained, research activity
- Curriculum mapping results (aligning program outcomes to courses, graduate attributes)
- Course outlines from across the program
- Assessment and evaluation strategies and tools
- Student work: Portfolios, capstone activities and projects, culminating displays of learning, undergrad research projects etc.